Direct link for California

 It looks like you’re missing a “Notice at Collection” link for your California-based users.

You must provide your California-based users with a direct link to your “Notice at Collection”. It’s a legal requirement under California privacy laws.

To fix it, activate the US State Laws option in iubenda’s Privacy Controls and Cookie Solution and display the privacy widget on every page of your website.

Transparency and Consent Framework

 Recommended for publishers in the EU and UK

Are you a publisher with monetized content? If you have users from the EU and UK, you may want to activate the IAB Transparency and Consent Framework to secure your ad revenue and enhance transparency for your end users.

iubenda is a certified IAB TCF Consent Management Platform (CMP). You can switch on the IAB TCF option in iubenda’s Privacy Controls and Cookie Solution with just a click, and we’ll handle the rest.

TCF vendors list

 Recommended for publishers in the EU and UK

If you’re a publisher adhering to the Transparency and Consent Framework, avoid showing the full list of IAB vendors in your preferences panel. For clarity, users willing to customize their consent preferences should only see the vendors you're actually using on your site.

iubenda can help by restricting your vendors to only the ones you’ve disclosed in your privacy policy.
